Abstract   The session will discuss how the MATLAB product family supports interactive teaching by showing examples of how MATLAB can interact with different software & hardware products.